BIOGRAPHY

Adlenia "Lena" Robinson-Rodriguez is President of C&R Development, spearheading goal-setting, strategic planning, and implementation.

Collaborating closely with company owners, she plays a crucial role in contract acquisition and management while providing inspirational leadership that energizes her team and consistently exceeds customer expectations.

For the past decade and a half, Lena has worked in tandem with her father, Curtis Robinson, in the establishment and management of various businesses, spanning sectors from construction and parking to property management. She also founded a state-wide parking management company, where she secured multiple high-value contracts.

Beyond her corporate endeavors, Lena is the President of the Curtis and Sheila Robinson Foundation, which has been instrumental in providing essential resources to needy families and communities. During the COVID-19 pandemic, the foundation successfully fed over 60,000 families in Connecticut, staying true to its mission of "Doing God's Work" and giving back to the community.
